

Over the years I've worked both for corporations and small business owners. I've found my heart is in locally owned businesses like Ann's. I love how personal and intimate the environment is, and how well I get to know each and every client. I've been here for three years and can't see myself working anywhere else.

If you call Ann's Eyewear Boutique I'll be the first person you talk to. I love meeting new people, and enjoy all of the great conversations I have with our customers. In this job, I learn something new every day. I recently started studying to become a licensed Optician and hope to get certified within the next year. I feel very lucky to be in a position where I can apply my fun loving attitude and personal attention to details, and can't wait to see what comes next!
